Trading Apps Named Winner for Leading Software Solution in The 2017 GLOBAL INVESTOR ISF SURVEY.

London — September 2017– Trading Apps announced today that it has been named the Winner for Leading Software Solutions provider in the 2017 Global Investor ISF Survey. The ISF Survey is the leading barometer of how borrowers and lenders rate each other across the globe. All of the survey participants are invited to rate their technology and data providers.

This is the second consecutive year that Trading Apps was named the Leading Software Solution in the securities finance market.

Trading Apps continues to be recognized by clients and market participants for the innovation and automation that it brings to the market. A survey respondent commented that Trading Apps was both “innovative and agile. They understand the business and stand ready to create new and exciting efficiencies.”

“Perhaps, even a greater honor than the award itself is the success of our clients in the survey and the feedback we have received. We continue to challenge ourselves to develop targeted solutions that have an immediate and profound impact on our client’s bottom line”, added Matthew Harrison – CEO of Trading Apps.
