

Trading Apps voted best Software Solutions Provider in Securities Finance

7 October 2016

Trading Apps technology has been recognised for successful innovation and automation in the ISF Awards 2016.

“We are honoured and delighted to receive this award as recognition of our success in delivering real business value to our clients through our best-in-class technology”, said Matthew Harrison, CEO of Trading Apps Ltd.

The Trading Apps suite offers a focussed set of modular applications to manage and automate the securities finance workflow across all industry participants.

“An increasing number of large players in the Securities Finance arena are realising that ad-hoc processes underpinned by dated technology are simply not good enough in today’s environment where efficiency, revenue optimisation and risk mitigation are key. It is a great validation of our approach to see that some of our largest clients were also recognised in these awards”, Harrison added.

The award was presented to TA’s Director Business Development Europe Laura Allen at the Global Investor/ISF gala dinner in London on 22nd September.
